John Hoque appointed ANZ Group Treasurer

ANZ today announced John Hoque has been appointed ANZ Group Treasurer, reporting to ANZ Group Chief Financial Officer, Farhan Faruqui.

Mr Hoque brings more than 20 years of international banking and treasury experience across markets, asset and liability management, funding and liquidity, capital management and prudential risk.

He will join ANZ from HSBC, where he is currently Managing Director and Global Head of Liquidity. His career has included senior roles at global banks including Standard Chartered and NatWest Markets, and he was previously Group Treasurer of private equity-backed Resolution Life. He has deep expertise spanning Europe and Asia-Pacific. Mr Hoque holds an engineering degree from Imperial College London.

Commenting on the appointment, Mr Faruqui said: “John brings a proven track record in treasury and financial markets. His international experience and deep expertise in funding, liquidity and capital management make him a great addition to our team at ANZ.

“As Group Treasurer, John will play an important role in supporting the delivery of ANZ 2030 by maintaining a strong and resilient balance sheet, ensuring efficient access to funding and capital, and supporting the financial flexibility needed to invest, grow and deliver sustainable value,” Mr Faruqui concluded.

Mr Hoque will commence with ANZ in April 2027 and will be based in Melbourne. Penny Dell will continue as Acting Group Treasurer until Mr Hoque joins the bank.
